What people appreciate about me...

- I have a strong work ethic
- I am curious and enjoy learning
- I have a creative and analytical mindset
- I look for the big picture while also paying attention to details

What's important to me...

- I value the relationships I have with my family, friends, and colleagues. I feel satisfied knowing that I have made a positive impact on those around me.
- I am motivated by the opportunity to use my skills to solve complex problems and make a positive difference in the world.
- What gets me up for work in the morning is the desire to continue learning and growing, as well as the sense of accomplishment that comes from completing challenging projects.
- I believe that open communication and collaboration are key to working effectively with others. I appreciate clear and concise instructions, and I value the opportunity to provide input and ideas for solutions to problems.

How to support me well at work...

- A good day at work for me is one where I am able to focus on complex problems and use my logical thinking skills to find effective solutions.
- A new employee working with me would benefit from understanding my need for clear communication and the importance of meeting commitments.
- They should also be prepared for my reflective approach to problem-solving, as I may take a little more time than others to consider all the angles before offering a view.
- It's important for them to feel free to ask questions and seek clarification when needed, as I value open dialogue and collaboration in the workplace.
